Tone 3

The harlot came to you, O Lover of humankind,
Emptying with her tears sweet myrrh upon your feet,
And from the foul stench of her sins
She was released at Your command;
But though he breathed Your grace,
The ungrateful disciple threw it all away,
And with filth he was defiled,
Selling You for love of money. ///
Glory, O Christ, to Your compassion!

ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Cunningly thought to betray You,

And I shall hand him over to you for you to crucify Him?”

Tone 1

The harlot cried aloud with weeping
And eagerly wiped Your immaculate feet, O Merciful,
With the hairs of her head,
As she groaned from the depth of her heart,
'Do not reject me, do not loathe me, my God,
But accept me as I repent, and save me, ///
As You alone love mankind'.

Reader: Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.
